

Resolution:
asking Houston City Council to repeal the newsrack ordinance.

1. Whereas, City Council adopted an ordinance on February 14, 2007 that will require all newsracks (boxes) on city right-of-way to be a designated material, size and color in the downtown by January 2008 and citywide by January 2009;
2. Whereas, All publications will also be required to pay a $300 fee to put boxes on the streets plus $5 per box;
3. Whereas, The newsrack law seems to be justified by an exaggerated concern for safety and orderliness without thought about the loss of editorial diversity and affordable advertising opportunities for small businesses;
4. Whereas, The cost of the new boxes and the fees and limits on locations will force many publications to shut down;
5. Whereas, The imposition of needless costs on small publications means that the city has undermined the First Amendment rights of Houstonians; be it

RESOLVED, That this organization calls upon city council to repeal the newsrack ordinance in its entirety.
